Art Unit: 2852

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

1. Claims 37-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

In claim 37, the applicant claims an engaging member slidable movable relative to the capping member "to open and close said opening by relative movement of said capping member relative to the main body" which is not understood in view of the specification.

The examiner believes that the engagement member the applicant is referring to is the toner feeding member 2 which has an end portion 2a which is slidable in a hole 3a of the capping member 3. This seems to correspond to what applicant is claiming however, it is not seen how the toner feeding member opens and closes the capping member. It is believed that the structure 6 (similar to the collet chuck 30 in previously cited Ichikawa et al. is the means by which the cap is moved to open and closed positions relative to the main body of the toner container. Please see Figs 5,6,8 and 9 and page 14, paragraph 80-82 and page 17, paragraphs 97-100 of the new specification.

2. Claims 37-39 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.
